

Who should you involve?

A hearing condition can impact your communication with the people that matter the most. Often, partners, family and friends are left out of the conversation, however including them is essential for your success!

How to involve others:

Ask for their perspective on your hearing and how it impacts them

Invite a significant person in your life to your appointments

Learn about what others can do to support your communication and share this information with them